

Visit TUSCALOOSA

Tuscaloosa's Untold History

Welcome to Tuscaloosa, Alabama! You're about to experience something unforgettable. Whether it's a bit of something delicious, a view that stops you in your tracks, or a moment that makes you feel truly present, you will discover aspects of Tuscaloosa County that you never knew existed. Every stop on this itinerary was chosen to help you connect, explore, and create stories worth telling. So, grab your curiosity (and maybe some comfy shoes), and let's get started!

Tag and share your @visittuscaloosa adventures

A.M. | Moundville Archeological Park

634 Mound State Parkway, Moundville, AL 35474

The panoramic landscape provides stunning views of ancient monuments while the museum displays many beautiful treasures including ancient artifacts and new indigenous artwork.

1:30 P.M. | Historic Homes Daily Tours

Begin at the Old Tavern, 500 Nicks Kids Avenue

Guided tours of three historic properties will take you back in time to key moments in Tuscaloosa's history. Visit the Old Tavern, the Battle-Friedman House, and the Jemison-Van de Graaff Mansion.

P.M. | The Tuscaloosa Civil Rights Trail

Self-Guided Digital Tour

Journey through pivotal moments in Tuscaloosa's civil rights history. Hear firsthand accounts of Bloody Tuesday (June 9, 1964) at the historic First African Baptist Church and visit Foster Auditorium, where Governor George Wallace famously blocked the entrance of the first African American students who were admitted to the University of Alabama. Gain insight into Tuscaloosa's past and its significance in shaping America's narrative.